The Accentra has a remarkably precise temperature control system built right in so you won't need an old-fashioned thermostat. The Accentra constantly monitors room temperatures and makes automatic adjustments to the pellet feed rate and combustion air so you get even heating. It even turns itself off and on as needed. The Accentra can burn up to a ton of pellets without the need for ash removal or cleaning.

When needed, the entire stove can be cleaned in less than half an hour.
